

MNWIFT MEMBER SPOTLIGHT March 2008

Molly Worre

Producer, Smokin' Yogi Films

I am from Minneapolis, Minnesota

I got my start in the biz after completing film school I began script supervising, my first gig was on the film "Horrible Flowers", which led to script supervising as a sustained career for many feature films, shorts and commercials. Since, I have directed and/or produced 6 short films. In the last year I have begun assistant directing and producing.

I am currently working on shooting a follow up for a short documentary called "REDEFINE" (co-directed by myself, Carrie Bush and Carrie Volk); Submitting 3 of my films to festivals and working full time at Smokin' Yogi Films.

The project I'm most excited about is "Abnormally Normal", the upcoming web-series in pre-production at Smokin' Yogi Films.

In ten years I see myself making films and living happily in the same house with my husband plus a few kids.

The best part of being a member of MN WIFT is meeting, networking, learning from, and being inspired by all the amazing women.

I think we can strengthen the community of women by making a deliberate effort to expand our personal networks of women in the industry; by recommending and collaborating with one another; by supporting and promoting each other's projects and by continuing our individual efforts to follow our dreams.

If I could be anywhere in the world right now, I would be on a film set, shooting exteriors in the Cayman Islands.

Three people I would love to meet are Baz Lehrman and the Coen Brothers.
